

Interested in learning about your ability to assess Second Language (L2) speaking performance?

Participate in research involving scoring the APTIS Speaking Test and taking Cognitive Tasks that measure one aspect of your rating ability!

- You will participate in a study as part of a dissertation research project (IRB protocol #: 18-016) on the relationship between one aspect of your rating ability and your scoring performance
- The study will take about 3.5 hours to complete, and will be conducted at Teachers College, Columbia University located at 525 West 120th St., New York, NY 10027
- Upon completion of all the activities in this study, you will be paid $40.
- To participate in this research study, please email me (Qie.Han@tc.columbia.edu) so that I can invite you to complete a rater background survey to see if you qualify

Contact Qie Han at Qie.Han@tc.columbia.edu or 917-724-5939 for more details.